Description of the 34th Annual Scientific Sessions:

The Eastern Nursing Research Society is pleased to accept abstracts to be considered for presentation at the ENRS 34th Annual Scientific Sessions. This year's theme is Charting the Path of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Through Nursing Science.

The 34th Annual Scientific Sessions appeal to all individuals interested in advancing nursing science, including nurse researchers, leaders in evidence-based practice, and dedicated nursing science students and faculty.

2022 Conference Objectives:

- Evaluate the impact of existing and emerging nursing knowledge focused on health equity to meet the needs of a diverse society.
- Discuss transformative nursing research that addresses equitable and accessible care across populations.
- Develop strategies to disseminate and implement nursing science that promotes diversity, health equity and inclusion.

ENRS Workshops are one hour in length. Interested parties should complete the Concurrent Workshop Proposal Form below. This year's theme is “Charting the Path of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Through Nursing Science”.

Please submit the form below by Tuesday, October 12, 2021. Accepted applications will be notified in early December. Historically, two standing workshops include: 1) a Funding Agencies Update and 2) an Editors' Presentation. You may review the previously covered conference topics on our website as a guide.

This year we will select workshops that highlight nursing science that addresses the needs of a diverse population. Examples of potential workshop topics include how to: use innovative technology in research to advance health equity, policy, and/or practice for diverse populations; implement creative PhD-DNP research collaborations to address the needs of a diverse society; creatively disseminate nursing science that promotes health equity, diversity, and inclusion into policy or practice; and apply novel research mentorship approaches to promote health equity, practice, and/or policy.

The Concurrent Workshop Submission Deadline is Tuesday, October 12, 2021, at 11:59 p.m.
